Dear Madam:

We reply to your email dated July 30, 2012 with regard to the attached news article entitled: "Alsons finalizing P9-b power loan" published in the July 28, 2012 issue of Manila Standard Today, which reported, among others, the following:

"ALSONS Consolidated Resources Inc. hopes to finalize within 30 days a P9-billion loan agreement with the local banks to finance the construction of a 200-megawatt coal project.

Alsons is negotiating the loan for unit Sarangani Energy Corp., which will build the power plant.

"Financing is through a project financing scheme with local syndicate of banks." Tirso Santillan, Jr., Alsons chief operating officer and executive vice president, said Friday.

The board of Sarangani Energy recently approved an increase in the company's authorized capital stock to P4.25 billion, from an initial P5 million, to cover equity in the development, construction and operation of the coal-fired power plant project in Maasim, Sarangani province.

The Sarangani Energy board also gave the go-signal to Daelim Industrial Co., Ltd. Of South Korea to proceed with the ground works on the plant's first 100-MW phase.

....

The plant's detailed design and engineering works will run through the fourth quarter.

The first phase of the power plant is expected to commence operations in early 2015 .

The group is also developing the 100-MW plant of San Ramon Power Inc. in San Ramon, Talisayan, Zamboanga City, which will generate up to 100 MW of electricity for Zamboanga City and nearby areas. The plant is expected to be operational by 2016.

...”

We confirm to all trading participants and the public that the statements made by our Executive Vice President, Tirso G. Santillan, Jr., in the above-mentioned article are true and correct.

We hope this clarifies the information contained in said article.

Very truly yours,

Alsons finalizing P9-b power loan

ALSONS Consolidated Resources Inc. hopes to finalize within 30 days a P9-billion loan agreement with the local banks to finance the construction of a 200-megawatt coal project.

Alsons is negotiating the loan for unit Sarangani Energy Corp., which will build the power plant.

"Financing is through a project financing scheme with local syndicate of banks," Tirso Santillan Jr., Alsons chief operating officer and executive vice president, said Friday.

The board of Sarangani Energy recently approved an increase in the company's authorized capital stock to P4.25 billion, from an initial P5 million, to cover equity in the development, construction and operation of the coal-fired power plant project in Maasim, Sarangani province.

Sarangani Energy is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Alsons, the publicly-listed holding company of the Alcantara Group. Its capital stock will be divided into 4.25 billion shares with a par value of P1 per share.

The Sarangani power plant will produce up to 200 MW of electricity for the province, neighboring General Santos City and portions of southern and south-central Mindanao.

The plant aims to help provide a long-term solution to the power shortage in Mindanao.

The Sarangani Energy board also gave the go-signal to Daelim Industrial Co. Ltd. of South Korea to proceed with the ground works on the plant's first 100-MW phase.

Daelim is the flagship company of the Daelim Group—one of the leading Korean business conglomerates and one of the biggest construction and engineering firms in South Korea with projects in 24 countries.

The plant's detailed design and engineering works will run through the fourth quarter.

The first phase of the power plant is expected to commence operations in early 2015.

The Alcantara Group controls and operates the 100-MW bunker-fired power plant of Western Mindanao Power Corp.

in Sangali, Zamboanga City and Southern Philippines Power Corp.'s 55-MW station in Alabel, Sarangani province.

The group is also developing the 100-MW plant of San Ramon Power Inc. in San Ramon, Talisayan, Zamboanga City, which will generate up to 100 MW of electricity for Zamboanga City and nearby areas. The plant is expected to be operational by 2016.

The Alcantara Group, through subsidiary Mapalad Power Corp., obtained the right to reacquire the 102-MW Iligan Diesel Plant from the Iligan City government. Rehabilitation and operation of the Iligan plant will start once the transfer is finalized.
