Dear Madam:

We reply to your email dated March 25, 2013 with regard to the attached news article entitled: "Ayala Land signs property deal with Alcantara Group" posted in the Inquirer.net on March 22, 2013, which reported, among others, the following:

"Property giant Ayala Land Inc. is expanding its footprint in Mindanao through a property joint-venture deal with the Alcantara group involving the redevelopment of a 25-hectare plywood factory in Davao's Lanang district into an upscale mixed-use community.

In separate disclosures to the Philippine Stock Exchange yesterday, ALI and Alsons Consolidated Resources announced that Alsons Development and Investment Co. (Aldevinco) – an investment company of the Alcantara group and one of the leading property developers in Davao City – has signed a joint venture agreement with ALI for the project.

Under the deal, the Alcantara group will contribute the land – currently the site of a hardly used plywood factory – in exchange for a 40-percent interest in the project while ALI will control 60 percent. Title to the prime Lanang property is currently held by a company jointly owned by Alsons and its parent Aldevinco.

We confirm to all trading participants and the public that the statements made in the above-mentioned article are true and correct, as previously disclosed in our letter to the Exchange dated March 22, 2013.

We hope this clarifies the information contained in said article.

Very truly yours,

LUIS R. YMSON, JR.
